

A POUND OF UKRAINIANS

Ersatz “president” Joe Biden stumbled through his State of the Union address last night (3/01), flubbing several lines from his prepared text and ad-libbing lines that did not make sense. Here is a list of his biggest mistakes:

1. Biden mistakenly says “Iranian people” instead of “Ukrainian people.”

“Putin may circle Kyiv with tanks, but he will never gain the hearts and souls of the Iranian people,” he said in his speech.

According to his prepared text, he was supposed to say “hearts and souls of the Ukrainian people.”

2. Biden refers to “a pound of Ukrainian people”

Biden referred to “a pound of Ukrainian people.” His prepared text said “proud.”

Biden tried to recover saying Ukrainians were fighting “pound for pound” with “every inch of ‘urnagy’” Urnagy?

3. Biden struggles over his demand to end the term “Rust Belt”

Biden labored through what should have been an easy line promoting midwestern manufacturing, borrowing a phrase coined by Sen. Sherrod Brown (D-OH):

“It’s time to see the uh the uh what used to be called the Rust Belt become the uh uh um the home of uh significant resurgence in manufacturing.”

4. Biden calls for “investigating” the police instead of “investing.”

The president made a passionate case for “investigating” crime prevention and community police, but according to his prepared text, he was supposed to say “investing”

“I know what works — investigating crime prevention, and community policing, cops who walk the beat,” he said.

5. Biden stumbles over his claim you cannot build a wall to keep out coronavirus

“You can’t build a wall high enough to keep out a-a-a-a a vaccine. The vaccine can stop the spread of these diseases,” he said.

Biden typically talks about how no one can build a wall high enough to stop the coronavirus, but this line was not in his prepared text. He failed to make his point.

6. Biden slurs his pronunciation of “health premiums”

The president referred to “health progremiums.”

7. refers to the “Russian Roo Bell”

Biden stumbled over his pronunciation of the word “ruble,” a word repeatedly referred to during the Russian attack on Ukraine.

8. Biden refers to the “infects” of climate change instead of “effects”

“[W]e’ll do it to withstand the devastating infects of climate change and promote environmental justice,” he said.

9. Biden struggles to talk about the number of corporations in America.

“There are more corporations incorporated in America than every other state in America combined, and I still won 36 years in a row,” Biden said.

Based on his past rhetoric, the president was likely referring to his home state of Delaware, but he never corrected himself. It was not in his prepared text.

10. ‘Go get him’

Biden inexplicably concluded his speech with the phrase “Go get him” although it was not in his prepared text and it was unclear who he wanted the Congress to “get.”

Yet the gaffes were just the sour frosting on this unbaked cake. No wonder Biden’s is being panned as “The Worst SOTU in History.”
