Betsy Ross showing the first American flag to George Washington

Celebrating American patriotism is a tradition in small towns all across our country on Flag Day, June 14. This is the opportunity for all of us to wave Old Glory to show our love for America. Here are four photo examples:

Appleton, Wisconsin

Quincy, Massachusetts

Fairfield, Washington

The tiny town of Three Oaks, Michigan has just 1,600 residents but holds “America’s largest flag day parade.” Today 126 bands, floats, and groups will march down Main Street. Enjoy the history of the parade. Happy Flag Day to all TTPers!
